SESSION ONE

VIRTUAL SESSION

Black Queer Life and Resistance: God Revealed

Vann Michael Millhouse

This virtual seminar will open up a discussion about how men who were assigned female at birth have experienced the white patriarchal framework, its religious systems, and examine in what ways they have had to reimagine their 'God' image to realize, actualize and access the transcendental power of the Universal Spirit and commune with Divinity.

11:00 AM - 11:45 AM

SESSION TWO

VIRTUAL SESSION

Engaged Critical Pluralism: The Next Generation Beyond Interfaith

Dr. J. Cody Nielsen

Dr. Nielsen is the founder and Executive Director of Convergence Strategies and the Director of the Center for Spirituality and Social Justice at Dickinson College. This virtual discussion seeks to invite participants to think about the next stage of the interfaith movement, one that should include intentional healing and hope for religious equity in America.

2:30 PM - 3:15 PM

SESSION THREE

Why Countering Islamophobia & Anti-Muslim Discrimination Is at the Intersection of Race, Religion, & Social Justice

Cassandra Lawrence, Dr. Todd Green, Margari Hill, Petra Alsoofy, and Simran Jeet Singh

This virtual panel discussion, moderated by Shoulder to Shoulder (a multifaith coalition) will feature partners and experts in the field to highlight and contextualize the problem of anti-Muslim discrimination and violence in the United States so that we may more strategically and effectively shape our responses to it.

3:30 PM - 4:15 PM

SESSION FOUR

VIRTUAL SESSION

Religion and Migration: The Emergence of Immigrant Christianity among Nigerian Communities in the Cosmopolitan Cities of the United States in the 2000s (15 min)

Kefas Lamak

Nigeria has one of the largest Christian populations globally. As Nigerian Pentecostal Christians migrate to the United States, they hardly find churches that are similar to those they frequented in Nigeria. Subsequently, new churches to serve this population began to open in the early 2000s. This virtual presentation aims to discuss this fast-growing religious movement.

6:30 PM - 8:30 PM

About Tri-Faith Initiative

Tri-Faith brings together in permanent residency a synagogue, church, mosque, and interfaith center on one 38-acre campus in America's heartland. From this intentionally diverse space, we bridge divides among three faith communities, neighbors in our local community, and, increasingly, people across the U.S. and around the world.

Inspired by the faith of Jewish, Christian, and Muslim communities, we cultivate inclusive environments to advance interfaith relationships and understanding.
